Back Ground on the Working Program:

The predator population in Namibia is at an all time low with extinction being a real threat. We are blessed with a country of great natural beauty, wild animals and contrast and the Harnas Wildlife Foundation will continue to meet our responsibility by supporting and conserving our environment.

Conservation includes protection, maintenance, and rehabilitation of our ecosystems and our endangered wildlife species. Harnas wishes to provide hope to endangered animals and to provide safe hospitalization, rehabilitation and often a home to all animals brought to Harnas.

Harnas has developed the "Working Guest" program to raise fund for the costs-intensive care for animals. By joining this programme, people from all over the world will help the Harnas Wildlife Foundation to carry out daily animal care taking activities while the income generated through this programme greatly contributes toward animal rehabilitation and care cost.

In return, the Working Guest has the chance to intimately experience a unique Wildlife Experience. Your support helps us preserve what's rare and valuable!

If you are looking for a meaningful way to get involved in assisting us with life's work, there are many areas where your talents and resources will be able to help us. We welcome dedicated, likeminded people that have a passion for Africa and its wild life and nature

The farm Harnas is situated in the Omaheke Region in the central east of Namibia, an African country in the southern hemisphere. Namibia is bordered by Angola to the North, the Atlantic Ocean to the west, the Republic of South Africa to the south and Botswana to the east.

The closest major town to Harnas is Gobabis, capital of the Omaheke Region. The Omaheke Region lies in a vast area covering more than 900 000 km² known as the Kalahari Desert. The Kalahari Desert consists of the eastern part of Namibia, most of Botswana and parts of South Africa. The Kalahari Desert in itself contains various ecotegions ranging from desert, to savannah, seasonal swampland and sandveld.

It is here, in the sandveld that Harnas is situated. This area has a summer rainfall climate. Massive cumulonimbus clouds start building in September, announcing spring and a new rainy season. It is not however until January that the majority of rain, in the form of thundershowers, starts falling. This rainy season usually continue into April, start of the Namibian winter, a very dry period with cold nights but generally warm days.
